

Amy
A Survivor

"Facing a cancer diagnosis in my 20s was a frightening experience. During that time of uncertainty, I wish a service like the Cancer Survivors Network had been available because I could have identified and shared experiences with other survivors my age. Now, as a one-year cancer survivor, I visit the Cancer Survivors Network Web site and enjoy reading the remarkable stories of recovery and personal growth of other survivors. Those stories are sources of strength when dealing with fears of recurrence."

Kevin
A Long-term Survivor

"A cancer diagnosis 11 years ago profoundly changed my life in both good and bad ways. It also made me want to make the experience easier for others like myself. The Cancer Survivors Network provides me with a way to tell my story and offer hope as well as be inspired by the stories of others. It gives me the opportunity to give something back."

Keith
A Survivor and a Caregiver

"The Cancer Survivors Network is a comforting place for both survivors and caregivers. A caregiver's journey is as tough as the survivor's. That may sound ridiculous, until you walk both sides of the ledger with somebody you love. It's the truth, from my standpoint."

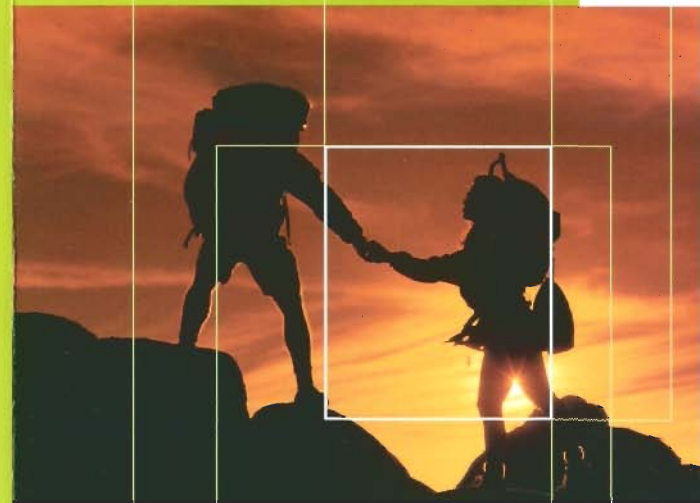

1.800.ACS.2345
www.cancer.org

Hope.Progress.Answers.®

©2002, American Cancer Society, Inc.
No. 2020.03-Rev.04/04

Cancer
Survivors
NetworkSM

*Welcome to Our Community of Cancer
Survivors and Caregivers*

A Community of Survivors and Caregivers

The Cancer Survivors Network is a community created by and for survivors and caregivers. From diagnosis, cancer becomes a part of a person's life and a caregiver's life experience. The Cancer Survivors Network unites all people touched by cancer. Survivorship can be an opportunity for personal growth and renewal of spirit.

No matter how cancer touches your life, we can help — log on right now to www.cancer.org!

Please share this brochure with other survivors and caregivers. For more information about other American Cancer Society support programs and services, call 1-800-ACS-2345 or visit www.cancer.org.

Shirley A Caregiver

"When my husband was diagnosed with multiple myeloma last year, it felt like our world was collapsing. How would we manage all the aspects of his care and still carry on a normal life? At the time, I didn't know about Cancer Survivors Network, but in recent months I've become a frequent visitor. I've gotten helpful information and built a rewarding new relationship with a family going through the same challenges we did. I thank the American Cancer Society for helping me bond with someone thousands of miles away who really knows what I'm going through. CSN helps both survivors and caregivers in their search for support."

www.cancer.org

The link to the Cancer Survivors Network is located on the American Cancer Society's Web site. With one click of the mouse, you can:

- Listen to, read, or download prerecorded personal stories and discussions among survivors and caregivers
- Explore and contribute to the Expressions Gallery, a compilation of survivors' stories, poems, and songs
- Create a personal homepage to share stories and get connected to others
- Participate in chats and discussion groups
- Find and communicate with other survivors and caregivers via secure email
- Search suggested books, articles, Web sites, support groups, and organizations
- Become a registered Cancer Survivors Network member at no charge
- Access the American Cancer Society's Cancer Resource Center for cancer information